THIS list of intelligence and educational tests is presented as a part of World Book Company's Test Service to educators. Though some tests may have been omitted on account of lack of information, it is probable that the list contains the titles, authors, and publishers, with information as to the grades for which they have been designed, of more tests than any bibliography previously published. No attempt has been made to include the prices of materials. Neither has any attempt been made to indicate the comparative merits of the tests.

A Brief Treatise on Standard Tests and Measurements, a booklet giving a discussion of the uses of tests in schools, and circulars giving complete descriptions of the tests herein listed in bold-face type, may be had free upon application to World Book Company.
